Discussion in 'Hyrule Warriors' started by Dark God Punishment, Sep 05, 2015. Badger Flat Badger Flat is a flat at the top of Geyser Hill. It contains two bubbling springs, named the North Steam and the South Steam, that are visible from Geyser Hill. During the summer, the North Steam has a steam plume of up to high. History In 1868, geologist Ferdinand V. Hayden reported that geysers called Mazama and Hackberry, (sic) were active at Badger Flat. When we heard that Stanley Warhola, the singer/songwriter in our band, had recently married — the first openly transgendered person to walk down the aisle in the U.S.A. in almost 30 years — we had to re-think our style. It was important for Mr. Warhola to be wed in front of the trans community. Ladies and gentlemen have come a long way since the early 70's, and yet, we still haven't gotten rid of the "I" in front of "it," or the "them" that acknowledges the fact that gender doesn't have to be binary. Mr. Warhola is walking side-by-side with a man — who would have been much more the object of woman's affection...and perhaps less harassed with assumptions. Have you been to a wedding in Red Tinfoil? Well, we just had one. We took our red tinfoil hat and our gay flags and sat down on the pews with the couple to sing and dance and eat a meal, and afterwards, we took our American flags and our kazoos and got together in the sand dunes, with the county constable with us, for some serious boot stomping of the sand and blowing of the kazoos! A handi-cap needed to be worn for the photo shoot, but as you can see in the picture from the Northern Michigan Blog (check
