ideally, you will want a tool that can be used to translate a large body of text into multiple languages. using a word-by-word translation from one language to the next would be insufficient. the problem is that most word-by-word translation techniques merely work by translating each individual word by itself, so in order to see the entire meaning of a document, all of the translations must be related to each other. if you are planning a long trip, you should consider that you may lose the ability to communicate well while traveling. systran is a language translation service that is dedicated to increasing its products library to include the most relevant and up to date words and phrases in the most languages possible. systrans website facilitates this and many other free document translation services and enables you to translate, add or edit words and phrases in the process. at systran, we specialise in multilingual translation services. we know exactly what internationals documents needs from a translation company and strive to meet them all by delivering high-quality machine translation and seamless uploads. as a supplier of multilingual document translation services , we are dedicated to quality and reliability. what is machine translation? machine translation (mt) is the electronic translation of texts and, therefore, the translation of language. however, this does not imply that mt is perfect. it can be a difficult subject to understand, especially if you have only a basic understanding of technology. systran has managed to remain transparent document translation services and avoid the traditional pitfalls of mt. our mt system is based on neural networks. this is the first translation option that does not use word-by-word translation techniques. instead, systran creates a system that document translation services internally learns to translate content, building a network of words and phrases that translates an entire document or web page. the system learns through an intensive training process. because it has actually gained experience, it is able to teach itself. neural networks were developed more than 50 years ago in order to study the way the brain functions. this is why the translation system is so useful to systran. our mt system learns and translates words and phrases quickly and accurately. it does not translate entire sentences. for this reason, translation time is much shorter than with word-by-word translation. through this tool, document translation services , advanced developers and translators can optimize the quality of their projects. systran can detect the technology behind the translator and tell which translation program you are using. how does machine translation work? the way machine translation works is through content analysis. documents contain many words and phrases that are similar to each other. however, this does not imply that one must translate an entire word in order to successfully get a translation. instead, our system analyzes the source and target text and learns the concepts and terminology to be used in the translation. this is where systran comes in.
